Chapter 358: The Dawn of the Eternal Conflict

The multiverse trembled as the Primordial Void began its slow awakening, spilling chaos across realms in ripples that grew stronger with each passing moment. Despite the omnipotence of Sung Jin-Woo, even the True Absolute One could sense the magnitude of the coming conflict.

The Unveiling of the Void's Heralds

From the depths of the Primordial Void emerged entities of unspeakable power: the Heralds of Chaos, ancient beings forged from the very essence of entropy. Each herald represented a primal aspect of destruction and disorder, their power rivaling even the monarchs of old.

1. Abyssion: Herald of Endless Depths, a towering creature with tendrils of black smoke that consumed all light.

2. Nyxalor: Herald of Eternal Night, an ethereal being that extinguished stars with its mere presence.

3. Erython: Herald of Unmaking, a monstrous titan that dissolved matter into nothingness.

4. Zyphraxis: Herald of Chaos Winds, a formless storm that tore apart entire dimensions.

These heralds began their campaign by targeting the weaker realms, leaving devastation in their wake.

The Divine Triad Responds

In the Absolute Realm Universe, Gabriel and Michael immediately mobilized the Divine Armada. With centillions of angels, divine warships, and celestial warriors at their command, they launched a counteroffensive against the Heralds of Chaos.

The Twelve Divine Beings also took action, their combined might focused on fortifying vulnerable realms and leading their forces in battle.

Ashborn, with his ten celestial wings, led an assault against Abyssion in the depths of the Shadow Abyss.

Sung Su-Ho, commanding the fiery dragon lords, clashed with Zyphraxis in a battle of elemental fury.

The remaining Divine Beings united to halt Nyxalor's advance into the mortal realms.

Despite their efforts, the Heralds proved to be formidable adversaries, their chaotic power destabilizing the balance of the multiverse.

The True Absolute One’s Intervention

Observing the escalating conflict from his True Absolute One Domain, Sung Jin-Woo decided to intervene. With his form now as vast as an entire realm, he compressed his essence into a radiant figure that descended into the Absolute Realm Universe.

His mere presence was enough to halt the spread of chaos, the light and shadow of his divinity repelling the Heralds.

1. Against Abyssion: Sung Jin-Woo wielded the Scepter of Dominion, its godly power erasing Abyssion’s tendrils of darkness with a single stroke.

2. Against Nyxalor: He unleashed the full force of his fifth divine jewel, creating a celestial sun that engulfed Nyxalor’s void-like form.

3. Against Erython: Using his absolute crown, Sung Jin-Woo rewound time itself, reducing Erython to its primordial state.

4. Against Zyphraxis: He summoned a barrier of absolute stillness, trapping the formless storm within an unbreakable prison.

In mere moments, the Heralds of Chaos were subdued, their powers sealed within divine artifacts forged by Sung Jin-Woo himself.

The Sealing of the Primordial Void

With the immediate threat neutralized, Sung Jin-Woo turned his attention to the source of the chaos. Channeling the combined power of his five divine jewels, he began crafting the Eternal Seal, a divine artifact capable of sealing the Primordial Void.

The process required immense energy, drawing upon the very fabric of creation itself. The Twelve Divine Beings and centillions of angels lent their power, forming an unbreakable circle of light around the Primordial Void.

As the Eternal Seal took shape, Sung Jin-Woo spoke:
"Let this be the end of chaos, the beginning of unending peace. By my will, the Void shall no longer plague the realms."

With a final surge of power, the Eternal Seal was completed, and the Primordial Void was locked away, its chaotic essence unable to touch the multiverse again.

A New Era of Harmony

The multiverse breathed a collective sigh of relief as peace was restored. The Heralds of Chaos, now powerless, were placed in eternal stasis within the Absolute Realm Universe. The Divine Armada returned to their duties, ensuring no remnants of chaos lingered in the realms.

Sung Jin-Woo, satisfied with the outcome, ascended once more to his True Absolute One Domain, where he continued his eternal watch over creation.

His voice echoed across the multiverse:
"The threat has passed, but vigilance must remain. Together, we shall protect all that exists, for I am the guardian of life and creation."

The realms entered a new era of harmony, guided by the unwavering presence of the True Absolute One and the Divine Triad.
